Assemblin increases presence around Norrköping, Sweden, through the acquisition of Åby Eltjänst AB

Assemblin El strengthens its position in the province of Östergötland around the city of Norrköping with the acquisition of the installation and service provider Åby Eltjänst, with sales of SEK 55 million and approximately 30 employees.

Founded in 1975, Åby Eltjänst is a specialist electrical engineering company. Its customers range from industries and property owners to stores and schools within both the private and public sectors. The company has deep local roots in the Norrköping area, and operates on the principle that close, long-term customer collaboration creates value for both parties.

“Since its founding in 1975, Åby Eltjänst has developed into a stable electrical engineering company. We are a highly customer-oriented company, and we are proud of the goodwill we have built up in the market over the years. We are now ready to take the company to the next level, and after in-depth discussions with Assemblin I feel certain we are gaining an owner with the right mindset to develop together with”, says Mårten Klint, President of Åby Eltjänst.

The range of services offered include power and lighting, industrial installations, transformer stations, electrical service, data networks, fibre optic, pass card systems, alarms, solar cell installations, periodic checks and energy studies.

“We are very pleased to acquire Åby Eltjänst, a company with a strong reputation and expertise. Assemblin’s current operations in the area are highly complementary with Åby Eltjänst’s footprint and together we will be a strong player in the Norrköping area”, says Fredrik Allthin, President and Business Area Manager of Assemblin El.
